Excerpt: .upon a different plan: while it neglects no caste, it pays special attention to the lowest castes, and even those below all caste, because they are the most accessible and impressible, and more souls can be saved. And also because the reformation and elevation of persons so low become object-lessons which illustrate the transforming and elevating power of Christianity much more strongly than could the conversion of high-caste persons, in whom the apparent change must necessarily be much less. The Board of Education has been very efficient in helping a large number of young men into the ministry of the church, and the Board of Ministerial Relief has brought joy and comfort to many disabled and superannuated ministers, and to the widows and orphans of those who had given their time and talents to the work of the church rather than to the laying up...
