Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Colonization and Abolition Contrasted IX. It opposes Colonization on the grounds, that it is a control over freedom; that the coloured people, born here, have as good title to all the advantages of the country as the whites; and that the rights of amalgamation are indispensable to the full scope of freedom, and to the greatest happiness of mankind. There are, doubtless, some Abolitionists who do not profess to go, and who probably would not go, the length and breadth of all and each several of these propositions. It is fair, therefore, to allow to all such the advantage of their own position. We think, however, it will generally be allowed, in view of all that is before the public as evidence on these points, that our statement of this creed is substantially, if not in every particular specifically and exactly, correct. In regard to the first rule, some, if not all, Abolitionists would doubtless admit, if they could long enough be blind to the consequence, that the involuntary servitude of minors and apprentices, and of other relations that might be specified, is a suitable regulation of society. But this admission would upset the principle of the rule, that it is in all cases a sin. This, nevertheless, is a doctrine of Abolitionists, though, doubtless, they mean to confine the application of the principle to one form of involuntary servitude. In regard to the 2d, 3d, 4th, and 5th propositions, it will, perhaps, be sufficient to quote two or three sentences from Dr. Channing, to show that they have high authority: I always hear with pain the doctrine, too common among lawyers, that property is...
